

▶ The One and Only Time.....Case of 1st year Dental School student A (from Okayama prefecture)

I live at home with parents and commute to University by bicycle. The first year lectures are mainly general education and I spend most of my time on Tsushima campus on days with lectures. Also, during my 1st year, there is some time to spare and I work part time or have club activities and because I feel it is important to spend my time effectively, I recommend living at home lifestyle because it can save on living expenses and money saved can be used for building friend network and gaining social experience.

▶ Rich Student Life.....Case of 4th year Dental School student D (from Okayama prefecture)

I commute to Shikata campus from home nearby. There are more clinical lectures and training, and I study with the feeling that I am getting closer to being a dentist. The whole grade, including me, is busy with studying, club activity and part time job every day but I manage my time well and can enjoy hobbies and going on a trip.

Because I live at home, I don't have to spend much time on housework when I am tired and am very grateful for the nutritious meals.

Technical classes start for 2nd year students and activity centers around Shikata campus mainly and there are also examinations for the technical classes. Compared to 1st year students, we spend more time studying for tests in library and it becomes more like a dental student lifestyle. However, the number of lectures is still small and we have opportunity to learn on our own and there is more free time.

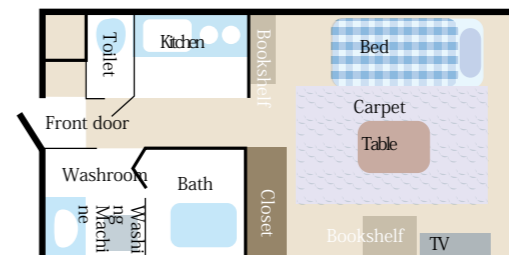

I spend my time on club activity and part time just enough not to disturb my studies. By utilizing the ample free time, I can expand my activities and spend a meaningful student life

The lectures and lifestyle for the 5th year student change greatly between first and second semester. There is classroom lecture and basic training using a model every day in the first semester. There is no time to play in summer after the first semester because there is CBT and OSCE, a certification exam, to advance to clinical training in August. The clinical training starts in October. An actual patient is assigned to us and we prepare a care plan ourselves and can track the year-long treatment process and development while discussing it with the faculty members. We handle real patients and have the responsibility and pressure unfelt before, but at the same time, we are able to gain meaningful experience.

▶ Start Special Course.....Case of 3rd year Dental School student C (from Ehime Prefecture)

Full-fledged special course starts at 3rd year such as assignment to research lab, ODUPAS (short term overseas study), dissection practice, etc. Therefore, more time needs to be spent on studying, preparing reports and so on. Meanwhile, there are club activity and part time work and it becomes hard to find free time. However, I think I am learning how to use my time effectively more and more this year which will be useful in the future as a medical professional when I will be even more busy.

▶ Last Year of Student Life.....Case of 6th year Dental School student F (from Fukuoka prefecture)

The clinical training from the 5th year is continued to September of the 6th year. I am getting used to the clinical training by now, but there is an evaluation by the professor and case presentation at its end and it becomes busy. Everyone in the class cooperates to pass these and this brings us very close together. Not only friends, but the whole class cooperates together, and I often thank the warmth of people. Studying for the national examination in groups is efficient and systematic. We are absorbed in studying every day, but it is a good idea to go to the café on campus to relax now and then.
